

PASSPORT TO THE WORLD

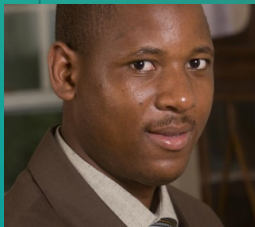

YEAR OF MIGRATION

Identity (Re)Construction among African Immigrants in Kentucky

March 19, 2019 | 5 – 7 pm | Gatton Student Center, Room 331
University of Kentucky

Light refreshments will be served at 5 pm, the panel will start at 5:30 pm.

Dr. Francis Musoni

Francis Musoni is a University of Kentucky Assistant Professor of African History, whose research focuses on migrations within and out of Africa. He is co-author (with Iddah Otieno, Angene Wilson, and Jack Wilson) of Voices of African Immigrants in Kentucky (forthcoming).

Dr. Angene Wilson

Angene Wilson is a retired Professor of Education and author of several books, including African Immigrant Voices in Kentucky (forthcoming) co-authored with Francis Musoni, Iddah Otieno and her husband Jack. Angene and Jack were Peace Corps Volunteers in Liberia from 1962-64. She also taught in Sierra Leone and Ghana.

Dr. Fraternel Amuri Misako

Fraternel Amuri Misako is a Professor of Political Science at the University of Kisangani in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC). He recently published a book entitled The Brain Waste of Foreign-educated Professionals in the United States: Employment Profiles and Policy Issues versus Community Capitals.

Moderated by Stani Bodenbender with the Patterson School of Diplomacy & International Commerce